The SCHOOLMA'AM

Published Annually by the Students of Harrisonburg State Teachers College,
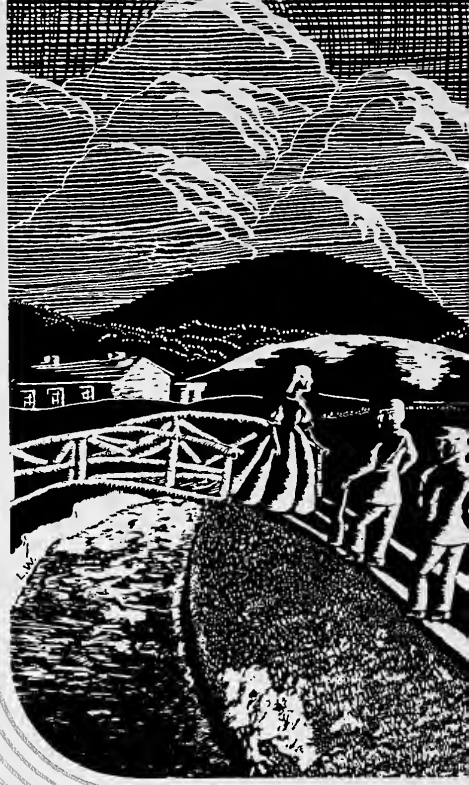
Harrisonburg, Va. ✣ Vol. Twenty-seven



Foreword

Several centuries ago, families of sturdy pioneers traveling in covered wagons, riding horseback, or walking, blazed a trail through the Shenandoah Valley. These forefathers were pleased with the ideal topography, invigorating atmosphere, and rugged scenic beauty peculiar to the Valley. Here their wandering ceased, here their souls were uplifted by the sweep of purple mountains, here their earnest hearts rejoiced as they patiently applied themselves to building homes, churches, and schools.

Decades passed. Prosperous farms sprang up along the banks of the Shenandoah River, mills bustled with activity, cities were built in view of distant mountain peaks. War days of stress and strain complicated the struggles of the early settlers, but their ceaseless industry coupled with their pride in making the Valley flourish has left a legacy rich in history and natural splendor.

It is the purpose of this volume of The Schoolma'am to liken life here at Harrisonburg, a college located in the heart of the Shenandoah Valley, to the struggle for life and progress of those faithful settlers.

Dedication

Because she is a native of the Shenandoah Valley, because her boundless energy and unfailing devotion to her profession infuses us with new animation, because her keen sense of humor and rare appreciation of human nature enables us to be more tolerant, because her intense love for beauty kindles in our hearts a kindred appreciation, we gratefully dedicate this volume of "The Schoolma'am" to

Miss Edna Trout Shaeffer

NOVEMBER 1, 1935

Hear, my sons, the instruction of a father, and attend to know understanding: for I give you good doctrine; forsake ye not my law. For I was a son unto my father, tender and only beloved in the sight of my mother. And he taught me and said unto me: let thy heart retain my words; keep my commandments, and live; get wisdom, get understanding; forget not, neither decline from the words of my mouth; forsake her not and she will preserve thee; love her and she will keep thee. Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom; yea, with all thy getting get understanding. . . . . .

Hear, O my son, and receive my sayings; and the days of thy life shall be many. I have led thee in paths of uprightness. When thou goest, thy steps shall not be straitened; and if thou runnest, thou shalt not stumble. Take fast hold of instruction; let her not go: keep her; for she is thy life.

PRAYER

Dear Heavenly Father, most humbly we thank Thee for all Thou hast found good. We thank Thee for the hills that rise as giant monuments to Thy greatness, for the trees that give restful shade to a troubled world, for friends that believe and urge us on to the wisest use of our talents, for homes that nurture the best there is in us.

Give us knowledge of the truest things in life and wisdom to appreciate them. Give us courage to follow those individuals who have been allowed to discover new paths, new thoughts, and new worlds. At the same time, grant us the daring to search for new fields of progress. Above all, give us a sympathetic understanding of Thy entire creation. Amen.

It was in 1716 that Governor Alexander Spotswood led his Knights of the Golden Horseshoe to the summit of the Blue Ridge Mountains and first viewed the Shenandoah Valley through Swift Run Gap.

Harrisonburg Strides Ahead

When we cast a backward glance over the history of the college, some years stand out as marked examples of progress. Achievements of these "red letter years" form the chapter headings of the college annals, such as the establishment of the Normal and Industrial School for Women by an act of the General Assembly in 1908, the laying of the cornerstone and the formal opening of the college to students in 1909, the inauguration of Student Government in 1915, the elaborate Shakespearean pageant in 1916, the awarding of the first degrees in 1919, the change of administrators in 1920, the dedication of Wilson Hall in 1931, the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary in 1933, the securing of the right to grant the Bachelor of Arts Degree in 1935. Thus we point out the years of achievement.

Perhaps it is the proximity of the session of 1935-36 that makes us want to rank it with those other years of special interest. During this past session, Harrisonburg has made a number of definite improvements.

Work was begun on a new residence hall for juniors, which was made possible by a PWA appropriation of $150,909, around the first of November, 1935. This dormitory, built on a plan similar to Senior Hall, contains forty-eight bedrooms with adjoining baths, a parlor, a radio room, a chaperon's suite, and a kitchenette on each floor. Other improvements in the physical plant included the re-finishing and furnishing of Harrison Hall lobby, and the re-modelling of Jackson and Ashby Halls at a cost of $5,459.55.

In order to facilitate the means of transportation for students having off-campus engagements, the college purchased a new bus, built to accommodate thirty passengers.

During the current session the college has served as hostess to the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Convention and the District Convention of Federated Music Clubs. The joint meeting of the Virginia Music Teachers Association with the State Federation of Music Clubs was entertained on campus April 15-18.

Dr. Amos M. Showalter, an associate professor of biology, and Dr. Argus Tresidder, instructor in dramatics and spoken English, were added to the faculty this year.

Realizing the need for instructing prospective teachers in the state policies and industries, the president of the college arranged for a series of lectures which were given during the Wednesday assembly period. Noted authorities who spoke on state problems included Dr. R. B. Truitt, University of Maryland; Dr. W. H. Stauffer, member of the State Department of Taxation; Judge Rose MacDonald, member of the State Board of Education; Mr. Wilbur C. Hall, Chairman of the Virginia State Commission of Conservation and Development; and Dr. S. C. Mitchell, University of Richmond.

As early as 1818, free church schools had been established in the Shenandoah Valley. Here reading, writing, and arithmetic were taught. These schools were gradually supplanted by free public schools which met regularly during the week.

Alma Mater

As shines the light divine on seekers near,
So gleams thy power, O Alma Mater dear.
For finer truth in love and strength to live
We come, accepting all, that we may give.

The daughters of thy pride we long to be,
Inspired to nobleness and loyalty;
Afford us wisdom from thy widening store;
Sight us with visions fading nevermore.

We love thy hills uprising to the blue,
Thy soft grays blending with the sunset hue.
Show us the beauty of our friendships rare;
Teach us the worthiness of such to share.

Senior Class History

HISTORY at all times goes deeper than the mere recording of facts. Real historians have sought to record for humanity the dominating spirit that directed the enterprises of man. Thus, in a class history, one may find evidence of things of more depth than class days, elections, and social affairs; one may look closer to discover that spirit which characterizes vital life.

As seniors, reviewing our freshman life, we should like to term those days in which we confidently enrolled, or matriculated—for our new college estate introduced us to a strange and impressive term—as the confident period. For we were confident; confident that upperclassmen who greeted us in such a friendly fashion would soon find that we would show them a thing or two. They did not realize who we were. In high school days we had just left, we had relinquished an honored place as seniors. Some of us had worn caps and gowns and had been awarded cups, medals, and other symbols of distinction. But our confidence diminished somewhat as we watched student leaders directing campus affairs.

We, as the "baby class," donned baseball caps on class day and held as our watchword "Playing the game fairly and squarely." How we thrilled when our officers took the rostrum to conduct chapel! But to us, as freshmen, came the humbling privilege of observing with the rest of the student body the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the college. For the first time, we realized how small a part we played in the history of the school. But at the end of the year our self-respect was partially restored by the pride we took in our spotless discipline record—due we believed, to a special interest Dr. Boehmer took in us.

With a certain abandon, we observed our second class day, adopting as our motto, "Sailing the sea to success." This period in our history may be called one of questioning. While we felt a certain freedom in our classrooms, we began to inquire into things for understanding the principles laid down for us. Some of our number tackled classes with a new seriousness, for they realized that within a few months they had to secure enough background to carry them into the teaching field. To those of us who remained came a realization of our own good fortune. This gave us a new impetus for the beginning of the third chapter in our history.

We should like to term our junior year "the golden age." With the exception of a few observations, student teaching had not yet cast a shadow upon our happiness. Our interests were varied, our cares were few, our responsibilities were limited. We were exultant over the anticipation of the prominent position our class was soon to hold. When, toward the close of our junior days, we saw our classmates assume their places as campus leaders, a certain note of sadness crept into our being. Yet, do not bits of sadness emphasize our joys by setting them against each other, by contrast, into stronger relief against their more drab background?

With such a spirit we entered upon the final period—one of awakening and of realization. Rising in the gray dawn to receive our caps and gowns from Dr. Duke and Dr. Frederikson, we were overwhelmed with the sense of responsibility. As we breakfasted in our dignified symbols of leadership, we listened to our president's challenge to assume the obligations of leadership with a feeling of unworthiness. Some of the idealism which had colored our junior year was lost in our coping with campus and classroom problems. We were caught in the mesh of classes and extra-curricular activities and so totally unmindful of the time that Commencement week with all its accompanying festivities and excitement crept upon us unawares.

And so we close this chapter of our college career. But the last period, which has been called an awakening, has a wider application than the range of campus affairs. We have been awakened to the need of our fellowman for new plans of living. We do not go into the world, unsheltered by college walls and traditions, with closed eyes. We recognize a call to service. Whether this be the teaching profession, whether it be in the technical field, or whether it lie in the contribution of a homemaker, our four years' experience at Harrisonburg has prepared us to face a world of realism and has made us eager to live in a world of adults.

Sophomore Sketches

Dear Diary,

Please don't tell but—I'm scared! There're so many others here just like me, or well—almost just! I have the funniest feeling inside. Did someone say "homesick"? Oh—no! I wondered a little about my roommates at first but I believe they're actually human. One of them has to roll up her hair in curlers and the other one knows Uncle John's sister whose cousin married a boy from home. I spent most of the day trying to "fit in"—felt a little better when I got his picture out. People do smile, though. There's that funny bell again! Excuse me, diary but I'm having a little trouble with my eyelids! 'Night!

Sept. 28

Diary, dear, please forgive me for neglecting you these past few days but I've been in almost a daze. Night before last I went to the Y. W. party and had fun plus. My "big sister" took me—oh, no, not my real big sis but the one that's included in your campus fees. My roommate won a prize in the old girls' name contest. Was I proud of her! Just got back tonight from the faculty reception. What a time! Almost like running the gauntlet. (The cake was good, though.) Filled out mentally, too, discussing the economic condition of Japan with Dr. Frederikson. See you later.

Oct. 10

Dear Diary,

Almost wept real tears at the New Girl-Old Girl wedding today. All of us Freshmen are supposed to "belong" now. Got an invite today to a tea next week! Am I thrilled? Pardon—I didn't mean to be humming the wedding march.

Nov. 29

Greetings, Diary,

No, I haven't forgotten you and, since we have only the day off for Thanksgiving and I couldn't go home, I'm devoting some of this precious time to you. Feel rather fullish though, after that dinner. What have I been doing? Well, we elected a president (Gen Stone from New York), heard Gov. Peery speak in chapel, went to my first big dance in the gym and in between times—perused some important-looking pages in some important-looking volumes. Don't let that scare you! Exams are not far hence and someone has said, "There's nothing like a college education!" Did I see you smile? Just for that I'm going to slam you shut!

Dec. 19

I know you don't like the way I'm holding you on this hat box but I just have a few minutes before the bus comes in. Hurray, hurray, and yet hurray! Exams have fled and I'm home-ward bound! That's right—fall on the floor. Oh well, I don't blame you—I feel like jumping, too. Did I hear the word "education"? Or was it the bus horn? It is!

Feb. 2, '35

Dear Diary,

I request the honor of your presence at a formal dance to be held tonight in Reed Hall gym at 8:30 o'clock. Music by Jack Wardlaw and his orchestra. Decorations—blue and silver, stars and moons.—I'm so excited! Hope this last snap doesn't fail me—it must have been those last Hershey bars. Almost forgot to tell you—I found a longish looking letter in my box last month. Three guesses —yes, it was—a bid! Methinks I hear the first soothing strains so—I must away!

April 15

Here I am again finally, my friend! Sorry, but I've been so busy with basketball practice and the excitement of Homecoming that I couldn't get around. Those few days I spent at home were a help, too. Told the family all about seeing Richard B. Harrison as "De Lawd" in Green Pastures. It was really tops! The Sunrise Service on Easter morning was grand, too. I'm going down street to a movie tonight to take full swing on these third-quarter privileges. Wish me luck!

May 19

Dear Diary,

Had so much fun on Freshman Day that I haven't calmed down yet. Took the campus "en masse" with our theme of "Marching Along Together" as cadets. Also tripped the light fantastic in May Day. Kay Carpenter was a lovely queen. Everything is getting all ready for Commencement now—feel rather sad-like myself. But then—home and rest! So until then—auf Wiedersehen!

Nov. 12, '35

Greetings, Diary!

Think I'll have to call you a journal if I don't stop forgetting you. Well, here I am a Sophomore! Student teaching is rather nerve-rending at times, though. The V. I. P. A. convention and dance were fun! Punk's doing swell as president.

Jan. 30, '36

Time seems to be taking wings. Christmas gone and fled. The new dorm's sprouting up, too. Lucky girls next year. Sophomore day went over with a bang! Or should I say band? "Sailing Over the Bounding Main" took us places. Ila Arrington was grand as our new admiral. Here's to a ship-shape class!

April 17

Just got back from Easter holidays. The music convention is going on now. Westminster Choir's here, too. Everything is in such a rush so—excuse me for the present.

May 26

My dearest Diary,

I suppose a little farewell speech would be in order. However, I don't feel quite up to farewell speeches. Anyway, I know you understand. That's what I always liked about you—such sympathetic silence! And so even though we will have to leave "ye deare olde Alma Mater" soon, I'm glad someone has said—"Parting is such sweet sorrow!"

I've written has been classified. I'm not even allowed to tell you what I've been doing.
It's been very hard on me, not being able

The Freshmen Celebrate

Memories That Haunt Me

Some of the things that I have felt and seen and heard are set aside in my heart, and every once in a while they become just as vivid again as they were when I first experienced them. These things are the spicy taste of young, green twigs; the feel of wind in my face as I race down a hill; the exalted fatigue that comes from a long walk in the woods; the incessant chirp of pond-frogs in the spring; the pungent odor of a rain-drenched pine forest; the feel of my mother's soft, cool hand when I am ill; the almost uncontrollable longing to jump from a high place; the excitement that comes from exploring an old, old house; the feel of the cold, damp air in a cave; the ecstasy coming from hearing wild geese honk at night; the soft touch of young lambs' wool; the feel of a tiny quivering bird; the overwhelming grief I felt when Beth died in Little Women; the delicious odor of my grandmother's pantry; the stately beauty of tall hollyhocks; the feel of the cool morning mists that hang over the meadow; the pride I feel upon seeing the flag raised in the morning; and my intense belief that if I live long enough I shall yet see a fairy peep out of a wood flower.

—Betty Walker

One evening in 1885, eight restless boys met in a fence corner near Dale Enterprise and organized the Fence Corner Council. This club lasted for twenty years. Of the eight original members one was editor of the National Geographic and the rest achieved distinction as public officials, educators, ministers, and writers.

Democratic self-government is one of the greatest opportunities and finest trusts placed in the hands of the students of Harrisonburg.

Frances Wells summed up the association's policies and doctrines, in her address to the student body, with the vital thoughts:

> "The underlying meaning of student government is student responsibility and character development. A sense of responsibility, high standards of living, and a keen sense of personal obligation, are ideals that we can have as a goal.
> "It is because of individual differences that government is necessary.
>
> "We recognize the fact that its purpose is to enforce rules, but we are prone to forget that it has a threefold purpose: to promote personal honor, to build character through self-reliance and individual responsibility, and to enable us to depend more on the unwritten spirit of fair play and high idealism that is cultivated through our contacts here.
> "Ever since our first day here we have been aware of the fine spirit that those 'early daughters' of our college created. They prepared for the girls of 'twenty-five years hence'; they laid a solid foundation for us; it is up to us to make our foundation, student government, so strong that the spirit of it will guide our girls of 'twenty-five years hence,' and cause them to realize that 'Democracy is something deeper than liberty; it is responsibility.' "

When we reach the place where we are guided more by group-attitudes than by rules, we shall have made real progress. This is the goal for which we are striving, for this alone will insure the permanence of student government and the realization of its highest ideals.

Elizabeth Thweatt

Under the leadership of Elizabeth Thweatt, who was aided by a cabinet of twenty capable members, the Young Women's Christian Association developed and presented a varied and well-planned program. Many new ideas were successfully tried, while such unsuccessful practices as the morning watch were discarded.

The Y. W. C. A. has arranged several exchange programs with the Bridgewater College Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A.

This year the association has been in better financial condition and has had a larger membership than any previous record shows.

Some of the new ideas which have worked to advantage are the Easter Sunrise Service, the distribution of membership cards in the chapel period, the donations of canned goods by the student body at Thanksgiving, and a luncheon on the first Saturday of the fall quarter for the ministers of the various denominations, who, as before, met with their respective church groups.

The Social Committee has done work in the Children's Home in Harrisonburg, and has sponsored the Thanksgiving food drive for the poor and the Christmas toy drive for underprivileged children. It has also sent cards of sympathy and cheer to those students and faculty members who experienced sickness or grief.

At Christmas time an impressive pageant was presented.

Social activities this year have included the Big Sister-Little Sister method of helping adjust new students, a party for the new girls, a tea, and a Hallowe'en banquet.

In the spring and fall quarters the Y. W. C. A. cabinet has its "retreats" to the college camp, where future plans are discussed.

Two delegates were sent to the Southern Student Conference at Blue Ridge, North Carolina, where, with Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. workers from all over the South, they discussed ways of making the Y. W. C. A. more vital and meaningful in college life. Two delegates were sent in January to Washington, D. C., to the Eleventh National Conference on the Cause and Cure of War.

Kappa Delta Pi, an international honor society in education, was established for the advancement of high standards in the teaching profession and in the field of social service.

During the current session, Alpha Chi Chapter has concentrated its programs around a study of progressive education as applied to various fields of school work. At regular meetings faculty members have discussed the part their special subjects play in the state educational program.

An outstanding piece of work accomplished by the club this year was an extensive study of the methods of testing and evaluation now in practice in Virginia schools. After the data on this subject was compiled by a committee, it was presented to the entire club in the form of a written report. A paper on the study was also read by a representative of the organization at the Virginia Academy of Science meeting held at Lexington in May.

At the observance of its ninth anniversary, Alpha Chi Chapter presented Dr. Francis P. Gaines, president of Washington and Lee University, as assembly speaker. Other achievements of this year included the sending of a delegate to the convention of Kappa Delta Pi held in St. Louis and the launching of a tutoring program on campus.

This Business of

In an attempt to keep The Schoolma'am from becoming a stereotyped memory book, the staff has centered its attention upon achieving something new in lay-out and typography. Several new features were initiated in the general plan of the book in order to afford more interesting material for both faculty and student body. One innovation was the election of a faculty mirror chosen by popular vote. The winners in this election are represented in the book by characteristic snapshots taken as they appeared in and out of the classroom.

Editing the Schoolma'am

Under the planning of the snapshot editor, a system was worked out by which a more thorough representation of snapshots may be procured. Each class, club, or other organization, elected one of its number to take pictures of the group at work. In this way, there was offered a better opportunity to obtain action pictures.

One of the most enjoyable activities of The Schoolma'am this year was assistance in the entertaining of the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Convention, November 1-2. Two representatives of the annual attended the National Scholastic Press Convention which met in Chicago last fall.

The Breeze

Virginia Cox
Editor-in-Chief

This year the weekly newspaper, the Breeze, has conscientiously attempted to develop a more intelligent college citizenry. Through both its news and editorial columns, it has aimed to stimulate an awareness of campus affairs and a wholesome interest in the welfare of student activities.

A highlight in the achievements of the 1934-35 Breeze was the entertaining of the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association at the annual convention held at Harrisonburg, November 1-2. Two delegates were also sent to the National Collegiate Press Convention in Chicago.

The selection of staff members was placed upon a strictly competitive basis which included recommendations from the English faculty and tryouts. A short training course in the principles of journalism was also given prospective staff members.

Staff

The publication has gained much through co-operation with the school journalism class and news service.

Various changes in the make-up of the paper, in the type used, and in the feature material published were instituted.

The 1935-36 Breeze was recently awarded first class honor rating through the critical service of the National Scholastic Press Association and Associated Collegiate Press. This year, during which 395 papers from colleges and universities throughout the United States were submitted for criticism, was the first time the local weekly had been entered.

Retiring staff heads are Virginia Cox, editor-in-chief; Lois Meeks, business manager; Lois Sloop and Elizabeth Bywaters, assistant editors; Goldie Cohen, head-writer; and Dolores Phalen, news editor.

The personnel of the Athletic Council, the governing body of the Athletic Association, is composed of the officers of the Athletic Association and of the class representatives and sports leaders. The activities of the Council extend over a wide range of occasions. In the realm of sports, intercollegiate hockey and basketball are promoted, and interclass participation in hockey, basketball, swimming, tennis, and baseball are offered by the Athletic Council. Those who are interested in learning to engage in various sports may take classes in soccer, speedball, volley ball, archery, field ball, tennis, and various kinds of dancing. The Hiking Club, which was originated for those who were interested in this outdoor diversion, is fostered by the Athletic Association.

This year the Athletic Council presented an original musical comedy, What a Change, which reviewed the changes in sports wearing apparel from the "gay nineties" to the present day.

A very impressive tapping service, in which the members of the May Court were recognized, was initiated by this organization in the spring.

The Senior, Junior, Sophomore, and Freshman Classes were represented on the Council by Lois Wandless, Margaret Poats, Margaret Byer, and Bettie Parker, respectively. Margaret Thompson, Helen Irby, Rosemary Holran, Lucy Clarke, Myra Pittman, Marguerite Holder, and Frances Umberger directed the class sports in hockey, basketball, golf, tennis, baseball, swimming, and hiking, respectively. Margaret Shank served as varsity hockey captain and Ann Kellam led the varsity basketball squad.

Varsity Basketball

Winning only six of the eight games played this season, Harrisonburg lost the undefeated record it has held for the past two years. The Farmville-Harrisonburg game played at Farmville on March 6 was the first to end in defeat, with a score of 28-21. The H. T. C. alumnæ gained the second victory over the Schoolma'ams with an exciting 21-18 score.

The Varsity's first game, which was played on home floor February 14 with Blackstone College, ended in a 40-8 victory for H. T. C. The next two contests were also held on home territory. On February 22, after a hard-fought battle with Westhampton, Harrisonburg emerged victorious with a score 31-26. On the following week-end the formidable East Stroudsburg sextet, of Pennsylvania, yielded to fast playing and a tricky side-pass, giving H. T. C. a 28-18 win. The Augusta Tigers, an independent team, were also defeated on the Harrisonburg floor with a 36-21 score.

Victors with a score of 33-29 in the H. T. C.-Savage School of Physical Education clash on March 6th in New York, the Schoolma'ams had their final success on the following day with a 31-24 victory over New College.

The team was captained by Miss Ann Kellam, Weirwood. She will be succeeded next year by Margaret Byer, Hagerstown, Maryland.

Varsity Hockey

By participation in the Virginia Field Hockey Association tournament at William and Mary College, the Harrisonburg Varsity team began the hockey season. The strong defensive plays of both teams in the William and Mary-H. T. C. game resulted in a scoreless tie. Sweet Briar College Varsity gave Harrisonburg an 8-0 defeat.

Marguerite Holder, Winston-Salem, N. C., member of H. T. C. Varsity, was chosen by a tournament selection committee to fill a position on one of the all-state teams. She played as right halfback on the Virginia Reserves.

The Westhampton-Harrisonburg game was played on Westhampton's field November 20, and it resulted in another 0-0 score for H. T. C.

The first home game of the season on November 30 was the annual Varsity-Alumnæ clash. This game, considered one of the closest and fastest ever played between the Varsity and Alumnæ, was a defeat of 1-0 for the Alumnæ.

Margaret Shank, Harrisonburg, was re-elected to lead the Harrisonburg Varsity eleven in the games next year.

Hockey Sport Leader

Interclass Hockey

After a series of hard-fought games, the Seniors took first place in the interclass hockey this season. The Sophomores ran them a close second. The following quartet were elected by their respective classes as class hockey sport leaders: Senior, Nancy Dorwin; Junior, Margaret Turner; Sophomore, Hilda Finney; and Freshman, Margaret Fitzgerald.

Margaret Thompson was chosen by the student body as hockey sport leader. Margaret, or "Goalie" to the varsity squad, has had three years of work with the Harrisonburg Varsity Hockey Squad. She has just concluded her fourth year in interclass hockey.

Interclass Basketball

HELEN IRBY
Basketball Sport Leader

Interclass basketball brought an unusually large number of enthusiastic players to the Big Gym this year. Each person who was present at ten of the twelve practice periods and who played at one of the games was awarded a class numeral at the chapel program in April which closed the basketball season.

Every class team contested with the three other classes for the championship. First honors were captured by the Seniors.

Helen Irby served as sport leader elected from the student body at large. Catherine Brennan was basketball sport leader for the Seniors; Martha Wratney for the Juniors; Margaret Byer for the Sophomores; and Jean Bundy for the Freshmen.

Spring is not really spring on H. T. C.'s athletic field without the resounding yell of "batter up!" Many a sunny afternoon passers-by have seen some sturdy would-be pitcher practicing "curves" while others nearby smacked their lips over a pleasing bit of baseball lingo.

This year a large number of girls were out for class practices. In baseball, as in other class sports, an emblem is given to those players who fill the requirements set up by the Athletic Association. Emblems were awarded this year to those girls who attended four practices and played in one class game.

LUCY CLARKE

Interclass Tennis

Lucy has been an enthusiastic sport leader this year. Before the interclass tennis matches began, she conducted a special instruction program for all those interested in tennis. For instruction the girls were divided into three groups: the beginners, the intermediates, and the advanced.

With the help of the special instruction program, tennis is off to a good start this spring. The girls interested in tennis are given an opportunity to play in the interclass matches. The tennis sport leaders are Senior, Doris Higbee; Junior, Margaret Poats; Sophomore, Ludie Gay; and Freshman, Anita Wise.

Interclass Swimming

At the inter-class swimming meet, which is held annually, Harrisonburg's future schoolma'ams lay aside their dignity to become mermaids in a varied program of swimming, diving, and amusing stunts.

Events are of different types: some are class and some are individual contests. In swimming, there are included various events such as relays, swimming for form, swimming for speed, and the plunge for distance. Diving is divided into two classes, intermediate and advanced.

Freshman Track

The annual track meet for the freshman physical education classes was held June 6. The program of events included the following: running broad jump, running high jump, fifty-yard dash, fifty-yard low hurdles, fifty-yard relay, discus throw, basketball and baseball throw, and javelin throw. The meet was run off by the sophomore physical education majors.

Activities

Bluestone Cotillion Club

The Bluestone Cotillion Club, under the leadership of Gene Averett, sponsored the annual mid-winter dances, February 8. Dan Gregory and his orchestra played for both the afternoon dansant and evening dance held in the Big Gymnasium. The theme and color scheme of the annual occasion carried out the suggestions of an old-fashioned gentleman and lady in black and silver, as suggested by the Cotillion seal.

Members of the organization also assist in preparations for other school dances during the year. The club itself engages in various social activities on campus.

In an effort to encourage more people to dance, two members of the Cotillion Club have served as hostesses in the Big Gym on evenings when dancing was arranged. The plan, initiated this year, has proved very successful both in teaching students to dance and in providing a more varied program for the club.

The Lanier Literary Society was founded October 8, 1909, when the College was yet very young. Through the years it has maintained the high ideals and keen literary appreciation of our beloved Southern poet, Sidney Lanier, for whom it is named.

During initiation new members wear the violet, Lanier's favorite flower, and carry the replica of a flute, the instrument upon which he gave further expression of a beauty-fired life.

In February, the society commemorated the birth month of the poet with a chapel program and a banquet. The weekly programs were studies of current books and the best screen productions of the year.

The society is proud to have in its possession the table upon which Lanier wrote his "Science of English Verse." Not only is this table highly prized by Lanier members, but it continues to be an attraction for other Lanier admirers as well.

The Lee Literary Society, which was named for Robert Edward Lee, bears the colors gold and Confederate gray. Gold, an emblem of purity, and Confederate gray, an emblem of service, were chosen because they were typical of Lee's life and leadership. The sword which lies across the open book of knowledge on the Lee seal, a replica of which is carried by Lee initiates, stands for courage.

In accordance with their annual custom, the Lee Literary Society honored General Robert E. Lee on his birthday, January 19. The society presented an impressive tableau with General Robert Calvin, a Confederate veteran, standing at attention before an antique surrey around which were clusters of gaily-dressed girls.

The social functions of the society included a party for the new girls and a formal dinner for Lee members.

Under the careful planning of Helen Shular, Chairman of the Program Committee for the winter quarter, Lee has presented a series of varied and interesting programs this year. During the fall quarter, the society made an extensive study of the short story from its beginning until modern times. Occasionally, reviews of current movies were given before their scheduled appearance at local theatres. The other activities of Lee during the winter and spring quarters centered about a study and discussion of modern dramatists and their works.

Because Thomas Nelson Page was a man of industry, a gentleman of Virginia, and a lover of literature, the charter members of Page Literary Society established this organization in 1921, honoring him. Following the motto suggested by Page, the society has made rapid strides in its development.

Early in the fall, the society began its year's activities by entertaining all the new girls on campus at a "tacky" party. Prizes were awarded for the "tackiest" costumes. In the fall quarter, one-act plays were studied and dramatized by members. Skits were also written and produced by the initiates. The winter quarter's work included a novel study of Page's life and works. The birthday of Page, April 23, was also observed by the club.

Alpha Literary Society

The Alpha Literary Society, the last literary society to be organized on campus, has an open membership to those who enjoy and appreciate literature. The society offers to both day students and campus girls an opportunity to participate in the study of any type of literature in which they are most interested.

In order to meet the varied interests of its members, Alpha was divided into several groups. The Drama Group engaged in the study of playwrights and their works. The Magazine and Travel Groups took imaginary trips to the Orient. The Poetry Group sponsored a poetry contest in addition to its own study of poetry. The Music Group made a review of famous composers and the circumstances under which they produced their masterpieces.

Social Committee

The Social Committee has as its work the sponsoring of all social activities on campus. Members are chosen from the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes, while the chairman is usually a member of the Senior class.

Each member has certain definite duties to perform. She keeps a record of all her activities in a notebook, which is passed on as a guide to her successor. The duties of the Social Committee range from writing countless invitations to teas, dinners, and receptions to ushering at lyceum numbers and movies, and include the planning of programs, decorations, and seating arrangements at banquets.

Le Cercle Français

The French Circle offers to those interested in French an additional opportunity to study the language, the writers, and the customs of France. It endeavors to foster an interest in France and in French correctly spoken.

The programs this year were devoted to the study of some French poetry and a short French play. The French Circle attended the motion picture, The Life of Louis Pasteur, as one of its activities.

Its chief contribution to campus life was the sponsoring of the French motion picture, La Maternelle, in conjunction with the Lyceum course.

Miss Elizabeth P. Cleveland, professor of French, is the sponsor of this foreign language group.

Alpha Rho Delta

Alpha Rho Delta was organized in 1931 with the two major aims of promoting an interest in Greek and Latin classics and of helping to develop a fuller appreciation of the contribution which ancient Greece and Rome have made to modern life and language. For the past year the club has centered its activities around the building of a model Roman house.

Sesame Club

Three years ago the Sesame Club was organized in order that day students might have an opportunity to become better acquainted with each other and with resident students. Each year the club gives a luncheon, to which each member invites a campus student. On the day scheduled for this event, the club conducts a chapel program. This year's program featured ex-Senator Conrad as guest speaker. For the purpose of drawing members of its own ranks closer together, the club entertained its members at several social functions during the past session.

Mrs. Ruebush, Mr. Chappelear, and Mr. Shorts, who are members of the college faculty, sponsor the Sesame Club.

Bluestone Ensemble

The Bluestone Ensemble, under the direction of Mr. Fred B. Spiker, instructor in violin, is composed of a number of local musicians, and any girls on campus who play an instrument well. The personnel of the orchestra is as follows: first violin, Josephine Miller, Miss Lucille Isbell, Anna Moffat McCormick; second violin, Leah Boyts, Anna Goode Turner, Miss Lena Ralston, Orrin Kirsh; clarinet, Miss Gladys Myers, Mr. Arley Long; French horn, Mr. Robert Borden; flute, Mrs. Ethel Lineweaver; bass violin, Alice Thompson; pianists, Caroline Schaller, Frances Graybeal, Julia Kilgore; cello, Mr. Louis Claybrook.

The Ensemble has presented programs for various civic clubs and churches in the city. Its activities on campus are confined to special occasions, such as commencement, quarterly convocations, and recitals.

Aeolian Club

The Æolian Club, an honorary music club, was organized to further music appreciation on campus and to present a broader field of self-expression to students with musical talent. In keeping with this aim, the alumnæ of the Æolian Club give financial aid in the form of scholarships in voice, piano, organ, or violin to talented students. The scholarships are awarded after the contestants have been given certain tests by the club and the music faculty and after they have made a public appearance on a musical program. This year scholarships were awarded to Margaret Dent for voice and to Lucille Webber for piano.

The weekly club meetings were devoted to comprehensive studies of various composers and to ear-training. The organization served as joint-hostess with the Glee Club at the meeting of the Virginia Federation of Music Clubs held on this campus in April. At other times during the year the club helped with private recitals and programs at local churches and furnished music for formal dinners.

Mrs. Vera Melone Conrad, a member of the music faculty, serves as club sponsor.

Art Club

When an artistic piece of work needs to be done on campus, whether it be the making of place cards or the painting of scenery for a play, the Art Club is called upon to help.

During the past year, the club made posters to be used in a campaign against reckless driving. It also conducted a chapel program in which the establishment of the new Art Museum in Richmond was discussed. Its most unusual work, however, was done in conjunction with the staging crew of the Stratford Dramatic Club in the designing and painting of the scenery used in the play, The Late Christopher Bean. A wall paper effect was desired—something new in staging as well as in the history of the Art Club. After much experimenting, this effect was obtained through the use of colored chalk on canvas.

The Frances Sale Club was formed for those students who are interested in various fields of work closely related to home economics. This society was named for Miss Frances Sale, the first home economics teacher at Harrisonburg, whose splendid work with little equipment set an inspiring example for those with whom she was associated.

It is the aim of the club to give all home economics girls who desire membership training in club work and leadership. Through the sponsoring of a variety of activities, the club creates interest among its members.

The Frances Sale Club has engaged in many worthwhile activities during the year which have afforded rich experience and valuable training to those participating. Some of these activities included the preparation and serving of refreshments for teas, the sending of several members to a mission to teach classes in home economics, and the discussion in regular club meetings of modern methods of preparing foods.

The Curie Science Club, named for Madame Curie, was organized for science majors interested in promoting science on campus, providing opportunity for attempting minor research work, and discussing recent developments in scientific fields.

The large membership was organized into six groups to facilitate work on projects and study of major interests. The Astronomy group planned to make charts on the stars. The Biology group undertook to study the trees on campus, aiming at a better appreciation of our surroundings. Study of our environment was the purpose of the Geology group in studying limestone and the tin ore deposit of Irish Creek. The Chemistry group took a practical turn by making face cream. The Nutrition group chose as its project the arrangement of the club room in the basement of Jackson. The Physics group attempted to build a miniature representation of how houses are wired for electricity. Although the plans have not been completed entirely as anticipated, they serve to show the ideal toward which the club is working.

As a supplement to the individual group activities, members of the faculty talked to the club on subjects of general interest and helpfulness.

The requirement that each person become a junior member of the Virginia Academy of Science gives the club a vital contact with present-day science and scientists, especially through attendance at annual meetings.

The Glee Club, functioning since the establishment of the college and more formally re-organized in 1915, was the first college glee club in the state to affiliate with the Virginia Federation of Music Clubs. This organization, under the direction of Miss Edna Shaeffer, is one of the most active organizations on campus.

The calendar of the Glee Club this year included a full list of engagements. On campus, the Club presented concerts for the District G Teachers Meeting and assisted in entertaining both the District and State Federation of Music Clubs and the Virginia Music Teachers Convention. The Glee Club participated in the State Choral Contest, which was held in Harrisonburg April 15-18, in the Alumnæ program, in the May Day celebration, and in Commencement. The club's off-campus engagements included broadcasts from Harrisonburg and Richmond, concerts for local civic clubs, appearances at the Hotel John Marshall and Centenary Methodist Church, Richmond, and participation in the Apple Blossom Festival at Winchester, where the club each year serves as a Queen's Chorus.

In the fall quarter, under the auspices of the Glee Club and the College Music Department, there was organized a Freshman Chorus and a College Choral Club for Sophomores and upperclassmen.

DIRECTOR

HONORARY MEMBER

MR. CONRAD LOGAN

For many years Miss Ruth Hudson has been the beloved director of the Stratford Dramatic Club. The Club pauses in grateful acknowledgment of her unstinted service, and in the hope that her retirement will be full of happy memories.

But Stratford has been fortunate in securing a new director of proved ability. Dr. Tresidder roused the College to realization that dramatics is for the many rather than the few, and that acting is only one phase of stage work. Associate memberships were awarded this year for achievement in staging, make-up, costuming, business management, lighting, and directing. Renewed spirit and enthusiasm swept the campus, as try-outs were thrown open to all.

Nine Till Six, by Aimee and Philip Stewart, given in the fall, was a happy example of English shop-girl tragedy as interpreted by the American collegienne. The Late Christopher Bean, by Sidney Howard, was characterized by an innovation as pleasant as it was startling, the use of men in the male rôles, where formerly the feminine players dressed as men. During the winter the play production class, sponsored by Stratford, gave four one-act plays: The Bad Penny, Rachel Fields; Before Breakfast, Eugene O'Neill; Letters, Colin Clements; and Joint Owners in Spain, Alice Brown. There were other activities in which the club participated: the senior-sophomore play in the spring, a chapel program featuring student-produced skits, and a formal tea for the Faculty.

Altogether it was an eventful year, rich in performance and promise. The Stratford Dramatic Club has succeeded in broadening its influence without diluting its quality, in placing drama in a yet more prominent pinnacle in the lives and thoughts of students at the College.

Hiking Club

Started several years ago primarily as an opportunity for students to learn more of the surrounding country, the Hiking Club has well fulfilled this purpose. It also boasts the added accomplishment of giving outdoor exercise to students not interested in varsity or class sports, of providing physical recreation of a mild sort for those students who are not allowed strenuous exercise, and of reducing rotund freshmen.

It is an organization open to all who enjoy hiking and nature study. To those members of the club who hike fifty miles or more before the Christmas holidays, with twenty of the fifty miles made in ten-mile hikes, a letter is awarded.

The club was this year under the leadership of Frances Umberger, and was divided into smaller groups headed by Elizabeth Williams, Margaret Poats, Lois Sloop, and Bernice Sloop. Hikes were made to Pleasant Hill, the "Frog Pond," the town reservoir, Dayton, Massanetta Springs, Massanutten Peak, and other local points. The climb up Massanutten Peak, with Dr. Duke as leader, is an annual event that is enjoyed by a large number of students besides regular members of the club.

The club program this year included two week-ends at the College camp near Port Republic.

Sigma Phi Lambda

In recognition of the need for an honorary society for students of the junior college level, Sigma Phi Lambda was founded as a local organization in the spring of 1935, with twenty-three charter members. Under its emblem, the torch, the society strives to promote scholarship, fellowship, and leadership among those sophomores and freshmen whose scholastic attainment has made them eligible for membership.

Following the period of organization, this year's efforts have been directed toward an intensive study in character education. At bi-monthly meetings, each program is led by a committee which develops the topic through individual talks and panel discussion.

Sigma Phi Lambda made its formal début among campus organizations in an assembly program, at which time the president outlined the scope of its purpose.

The International Relations Club, a newcomer on campus, was organized by those girls who were especially interested in international affairs and who felt the need of such an organization to satisfy their curiosity about current affairs.

Each quarter the club sponsors a chapel program and holds an open meeting, in which the student body is invited to participate. Some of its activities this year included a panel discussion of the Italian-Ethiopian dispute, a joint meeting with Mary Baldwin and Bridgewater Colleges on the Pan-American question, and the sending of the President and President-elect as delegates to the Southeast Conference of International Relations Clubs at Winthrop College, Rock Hill, South Carolina.

In the days when beauty was concerned with the size of a hoop or the height of a beautifully powdered wig, our grandmothers, too, liked to appear at their best. Perhaps it is Betsy Patterson herself who sits before the mirror. Miss Patterson, a relative of Napoleon, once passed through the Valley on her way to Hot Springs.

Frances Wells Is Crowned May Queen of H.T.C. To-day

350 Students Participate in Festivities of Annual May Day Program; Coronation Ceremony Takes Place on Steps of Wilson Hall

Harrisonburg, May 2—Crowned the seventeenth queen of the May at H.T.C. this afternoon at the annual May Day program, Frances Wells, Suffolk, past president of the Student Government, will be guest of honor along with her maid-of-honor and her court at the dance tonight.

The ceremony took place on the quadrangle when the queen, crossing the length of campus, ascended Wilson steps for the coronation. She was preceded by Elizabeth Gilley, Axton, maid-of-honor; Betty Hodges, Chatham, crownbearer; and twelve court members, Annie G. Darden, Holland; Virginia Blain, Clifton Forge; Melva Burnette, Leesburg; Marjorie Fulton, Gate City; Mary B. Cox, Independence; Bertha Jenkins, Waynesboro; Martha Way, Kenova, W. Va.; Margaret Hottle, Manassas; Kathrine Beale, Holland; Ann Kellam, Weirwood; Sylvia Kamsky, Richmond; and Gene Averett, Lynchburg.

The queen's processional was preceded by the Glee Club and a Scarf Dance.

Following the coronation, the Castleton Garland dancers appeared on the green and danced for the queen's delight. Tumblers and Maypole dancers spared no efforts to please her.

Approximately 350 students, the largest number ever participating in the May Day festivities, carried through the day's program. About 150 of this number were freshmen, 120 sophomores, and the remaining juniors and seniors.

The annual dance will end the unusual May Day festivities, which began at 6:30 a. m., with May carols sung at the various dormitories by the Glee Club, and the climax of which was the coronation this afternoon.

Committees serving on May Day this year are Sylvia Kamsky, director; Martha "Peter" Wratney, business manager; Miss Helen Marbut, faculty director; Miss Dorothy Savage, faculty assistant; Lois Sloop, program; Janie Miner, head usher; Marion Townsend, stage set; Miriam Rosenkrans, costumes; Miss Edna Shaeffer, director of Glee Club; Nancy Dorwin, Flora Heins, Virginia Blain, Dance Committee Chairmen.

V. I. P. A.

Meeting for the first time on a single campus, the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, composed of editors and business managers of college publications throughout the state, held its ninth annual convention at Harrisonburg, November 1-2.

This organization was established in 1927 by editors from Farmville State Teachers College and Hampden-Sidney College with the purpose of encouraging constructive interest in the college press. Alexander Hudgins, co-founder of the V. I. P. A., has served as executive secretary throughout the history of the association. Other officers for the year 1934-1935 were Virginia Cox, president, and Elizabeth Bywaters, secretary-treasurer.

Besides the regular business sessions and group meetings, the program of the ninth annual convention included addresses by W. L. Chenery, editor of Collier's, and O. W. Riegel, head of the journalism department at Washington and Lee University; a reception; trips to nearby caverns; a banquet; and a dance. Mr. Chenery outlined opportunities for young journalists today, while Mr. Riegel discussed the loss of press freedom in Europe.

The yearbook staff wishes to express its appreciation to Mr. Hitch and Mr. Shelton of the Charlotte Engraving Company; to Mr. Runnels of the McClure Company, Inc.; to Mr. McClung of the André Studio; to Miss Grace Margaret Palmer, Miss Alimae Aiken, Miss Elizabeth P. Cleveland, and Mrs. Edna Tutt Frederikson; and to all others who helped in the production of this volume of The Schoolma'am.

Milling has long been an important industry in the Valley. From the first, the swift, rushing streams invited the building of mills, which served a double purpose; they not only ground the wheat but also provided a place for the exchange of interesting news and masculine gossip.

GREAT DAYS COMING!

VACATION has taken the place of prosperity, vacation is just around the corner, and if prosperity isn't here, at least it's close enough to make holiday planning most fascinating right now. When scheduling your summer trip or trips, you'll be smart and thrifty to include Greyhound in the picture. Serving virtually every city and town, park and playground in the nation, this comfortable, convenient transportation costs so much less than average that you can travel much farther, stay days longer, see and enjoy twice as much...all at no extra expense. A Greyhound agent is no farther from you than a telephone, and glad to help and advise on your vacation plans.

THAT SWEET GIRL GRADUATE!

She has graduated from Harrisonburg State Teachers College.

Now what? What shall she do? Perhaps she ponders this question, realizing that many changes are to come about in her life.

But not all graduates are wondering. Many of them have plans already made. June, Oh June, is the favorite month. It's "John and I" or "Tom and I," or, oh, well, what's in a name, anyway? The long and short of it is, she is going to help him by putting to practical test those principles of economy and good training she has learned at school. She will soon be the purchasing agent of a new home.

Mick-or-Mack greets her, that Sweet Girl Graduate, and invites her to come first, last and always. Yes, we'll be waiting at the door to greet her.

gone in for entirely different extra-curricular - activities our friendship has meant just as much - or more, I should say - for "variety is the spice of life" - so they say.

but they've always come out all right. There is that no girl in that company that I have thought more of - no one that has been as true and sincere a friend pal, and roommate as you have been to me. I'm going to miss you terribly - so please Gert - please write to me often and let me know what you're doing. I know that you'll get a swell job next year and here's to all the success in the world you deserve it - and it will be yours. I'm betting on you now, Sister, pal - just because we won't be write-visited each other as we have for the past four years - don't mean that you can keep secrets from me. Gee, but we've had lots in common since '32 and, don't you dare go and fall in love - get married and [illegible] that goes with it

Do not see you know about it - who - when - why - write to me often, if only a card. I promise to do the same to you (not that I'll be getting married or anything like that) - but you know what I mean. Guess I'd better stop now before I say too much - but I know that you know how I feel. Well - Dr. Ashenfelter of 1946 - I'm looking forward to seeing you this summer

Please write. All
